WHEREAS all government ought to be instituted and supported for the security and protection of the community as such, and to enable the individuals who compose it to enjoy their natural rights, and the other blessings which the author of existence has bestowed upon man; and whenever those great ends of government are not obtained, the people have a right by common consent to change it, and take such measures as to them may appear necessary to promote their safety and happiness.

AND whereas the inhabitants of this State have, (in consideration of protection only) heretofore acknowledged allegiance to the King of Great Britain, and the said King has not only withdrawn that protection, but commenced and still continues to carry on, with unabated vengeance, a most cruel and unjust war against them; employing therein not only the troops of Great-Britain,

Britain, but foreign mercenaries, savages and slaves, for the avowed purpose of reducing them to a total and abject submission to the despotic domination of the British parliament, with many other acts of tyranny, (more fully set forth in the declaration of Congress) whereby all allegiance and fealty to the said King and his successors, are dissolved and at an end; and all power and authority derived from him ceased in the American colonies.

AND whereas the territory which now comprehends the State of Vermont, did antecedently of right belong to the government of New Hampshire; and the former Governor thereof, viz. his Excellency Benning Wentworth, Esq; granted many charters of lands and corporations within this State to the present inhabitants and others. And whereas the late Lieutenant-Governor Colden of New-York, with others, did, in violation of the tenth command, covet those very lands; and by a false representation made to the court of Great-Britain, (in the year 1764, that for the convenience of trade and administration of justice, the inhabitants were desirous of being annexed to that government,) obtained jurisdiction of those very identical lands ex-parte, which ever was and is disagreeable to the inhabitants. And whereas the legislature of New-York, ever have and still continue to disown the good people of this State, in their landed property, which will appear in the complaints hereafter inserted, and in the 36th section of their present constitution, in which is established the grants of land made by that government.

THEY have refused to make re-grants of our lands to the original proprietors and occupants, unless at the exorbitant rate of 2300 dollars fees for each township, and did enhance the quit-rent three fold, and demanded an immediate delivery of the title derived before from New-Hampshire.

THE judges of their supreme court have made a solemn lemn declaration, that the charters, conveyances, &c. of the lands included in the before described premises, were utterly null and void, on which said title was founded. In consequence of which declaration writs of possession have been by them issued and the sheriff of the county of Albany sent at the head of six or seven hundred men, to enforce the execution thereof.

THEY have passed an act, annexing a penalty thereto, of thirty pounds fine and six months imprisonment on any person who should refuse assisting the sheriff, after being requested for the purpose of executing writs of possession.

THE Governors Dunmore, Tryon and Colden, have made re-grants of several tracts of land included in the premises, to certain favorite land jobbers in the government of New York, in direct violation of his Britannic majesty's express prohibition, in the year 1767.

THEY have issued proclamations, wherein they have offered large sums of money for the purpose of apprehending those very persons who have dared boldly, and publicly to appear in defence of their just rights.

THEY did pass twelve acts of outlawry on the 9th day of March, A. D. 1774, empowering the respective judges of their supreme court to award execution of death against those inhabitants in said district, that they should judge to be offenders, without trial.

THEY have and still continue an unjust claim to those lands, which greatly retards emigration into, and the settlement of this State.

THEY have hired foreign troops, emigrants from Scotland, at two different times, and armed them to drive us out of possession.

THEY have sent the savages on our frontiers to distress us.

THEY have proceeded to erect the counties of Cumberland and Glocester, and establish courts of justice there, after they were discountenanced by the authority of Great Britain.

THEY

THE free Convention of the State of New-York, at Harlem, in the year 1776, unanimously voted, " That " all quit-rents formerly due to the King of Great-" Britain, are now due and owing to this Convention,
 " or such future government as shall be hereafter esta" blished in this State."

In the several stages of the aforesaid oppressions we have petitioned his Britannic majesty in the most humble manner for redress, and have at very great expence, received several reports in our favor; and in other instances wherein we have petitioned the late legislative authority of New-York, those petitions have been treated with neglect.

AND whereas the local situation of this State from New-York, at the extream part is upward of four hundred and fifty miles from the seat of that government, renders it extream difficult to continue under the jurisdiction of said State.

THEREFORE it is absolutely necessary, for the welfare and safety of the inhabitants of this State, that it should be henceforth a free and independent State, and that a just, permanent and proper form of government, should exist in it, derived from, and founded on the authority of the people only, agreeable to the direction of the honourable American Congress.

We the representatives of the freemen of Vermont, in General Convention met, for the exprefs purpose of forming such a government; confessing the goodness of the Great Governor of the universe (who alone knows to what degree of earthly happiness mankind may attain by perfecting the arts of government) in permitting the people of this State by common consent, and without violence, deliberately to form for themselves, such just rules as they shall think best for governing their future society, and being fully convinced that it is our indispensable duty, to establish such original principles of government, as will best promote the general happiness of the people of this State, and their posterity, and provide for future improvements, without partiality for, or prejudice against any particular class, sect, or denomination of men whatever, do, by virtue of authority vested in us, by our constituents, ordain, declare, and establish, the following declaration of rights, and frame of government, to be the CONSTITUTION of this COMMONWEALTH, and to remain in force therein forever unaltered, except in such articles, as shall hereafter on experience be found to require improvement, and which shall by the same authority of the people, fairly delegated, as this frame of government directs, be amended or improved, for the more effectual obtaining and securing the great end and design of all government, herein before mentioned.

CHAPTER I.

A DECLARATION of the RIGHTS of the INHABITANTS of the STATE of VERMONT.

1. THAT all men are born equally free and independent, and have certain natural, inherent and unalienable rights, amongst which are the enjoying and defending life and liberty; acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining happiness and safety. Therefore, no male person, born in this country, or brought from over sea, ought to be holden by law to serve any person as a servant, slave or apprentice, after he arrives to the age of twenty-one years, nor female in like manner, after she arrives to the age of eighteen years, unless they are bound by their own consent after they arrive to such age, or bound by law for the payment of debts, damages, fines, costs, or the like.

2. THAT

2. THAT private property ought to be subservient to public uses when necessity requires it; nevertheless, whenever any particular mans property is taken for the use of the public, the owner ought to receive an equivalent in money.

3. THAT all men have a natural and unalienable right to worship ALMIGHTY GOD according to the dictates of their own consciences and understanding, regulated by the word of God, and that no man ought, or of right can be compelled to attend any religious worship, or erect, or support any place of worship, or maintain any minister contrary to the dictates of his conscience; nor can any man who professes the protestant religion, be justly deprived or abridged of any civil right, as a citizen, on account of his religious sentiment, or peculiar mode of religious worship, and that no authority can, or ought to be vested in, or assumed by, any power whatsoever, that shall in any case interfere with, or in any manner controul the rights of conscience, in the free exercise of religious worship; nevertheless every sect or denomination of people ought to observe the Sabbath, or the Lord's day, and keep up and support some sort of religious worship, which to them shall seem most agreeable to the revealed will of God.

4. THAT the people of this State have the sole, exclusive and inherent right of governing and regulating the internal police of the same.

5. THAT all power being originally inherent in, and consequently derived from, the people; therefore all officers of government, whether legislative or executive, are their trustees and servants, and at all times accountable to them.

6. THAT government is, or ought to be, instituted for the common benefit, protection, and security of the people, nation or community; and not for the particular emolument or advantage of any single man, family or set of men, who are a part only of that community;

nity ; and that the community hath an indubitable, unalienable and indefeasible right to reform, alter, or abolish government in such manner as shall be by that community judged most conducive to the public weal.

7. THAT those who are employed in the legislative and executive business of the State may be restrained from oppression, the people have a right, at such periods as they may think proper, to reduce their public officers to a private station, and supply the vacancies by certain and regular elections,

8. THAT all elections ought to be free ; and that all freemen having a sufficient evident common interest with, and attachment to the community, have a right to elect officers, or be elected into office.

9. THAT every member of society hath a right to be protected in the enjoyment of life, liberty and property, and therefore is bound to contribute his proportion towards the expence of that protection, and yield his personal service, when necessary, or an equivalent thereto ; but no part of a man's property can be justly taken from him, or applied to public uses, without his own consent, or that of his legal representatives ; nor can any man who is conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms, be justly compelled thereto, if he will pay such equivalent ; nor are the people bound by any law, but such as they have in like manner assented to, for their common good.

10. THAT in all prosecutions for criminal offences, a man hath a right to be heard by himself and his counsel---to demand the cause and nature of his accusation---to be confronted with the witnesses---to call for evidence in his favour, and a speedy public trial, by an impartial jury of the country, without the unanimous consent of which jury he cannot be found guilty ; nor can he be compelled to give evidence against himself ; nor can any man be justly deprived of his liberty, except by the laws of the land or the judgment of his peers.

11. THAT

11. THAT the people have a right to hold themselves, their houses, papers and possessions free from search or seizure; and therefore warrants without oaths or affirmations first made, affording a sufficient foundation for them, and whereby any officer or messenger may be commanded or required to search suspected places, or to seize any person or persons, his her or their property, not particularly described, are contrary to that right, and ought not to be granted.

12. THAT no warrant or writ to attach the person or estate, of any freeholder within this State, shall be issued in civil action without the person or persons, who may request such warrant or attachment, first make oath, or affirm before the authority, who may be requested to issue the same, that he, or they, are in danger of losing his, her, or their debts.

13. THAT in controversies respecting property, and in suits between man and man, the parties have a right to a trial by jury, which ought to be held sacred.

14. THAT the people have a right to freedom of speech, and of writing, and publishing their sentiments; therefore the freedom of the press ought not to be restrained.

15. THAT the people have a right to bear arms for the defence of themselves and the State; and as standing armies, in the time of peace, are dangerous to liberty, they ought not to be kept up; And that the military should be kept under strict subordination to, and governed by, the civil power.

16. THAT frequent recurrence to fundamental principles, and a firm adherence to justice, moderation, temperance, industry and frugality, are absolutely necessary to preserve the blessings of liberty, and keep government free: The people ought therefore to pay particular attention to these points in the choice of officers and representatives, and have a right to exact a due and constant regard to them, from their legislators and magistrates magistrates in the making and executing such laws as are necessary for the good government of the State.

17. THAT all people have a natural and inherent right to emigrate from one State to another that will receive them; or to form a new State in vacant countries, or in such countries as they can purchase, whenever they think that thereby they can promote their own happiness.

18. THAT the people have a right to assemble together, to consult for their common good--to instruct their representatives, and to apply to the legislature for redress of grievances, by address, petition or remonstrance.

19. THAT no person shall be liable to be transported out of this State for trial, for any offence committed within this State.

C H A P T E R II.

PLAN OR FRAME OF GOVERNMENT.

S E C T I O N I.

THE COMMON-WEALTH or STATE of VERMONT, shall be governed hereafter by a Governor, Deputy-Governor, Council, and an Assembly of the Representatives of the Freemen of the same, in manner and form following.

SECTION

S E C T I O N IV.

COURTS of justice shall be established in every county in this State.

S E C T I O N V.

THE freemen of this Commonwealth, and their sons, shall be trained and armed for its defence, under such regulations, restrictions and exceptions as the General Assembly shall by law direct, preserving always to the people the right of choosing their colonels of militia, and all commissioned officers under that rank, in such manner and as often as by the said laws shall be directed.

S E C T I O N VI.

EVERY man of the full age of twenty-one years, having resided in this State for the space of one whole year next before the election of representatives, and is of a quiet and peaceable behaviour, and will take the following oath (or affirmation) shall be entitled to all the privileges of a freeman of this State.

I ————— solemnly swear by the ever-living God, (or affirm) in presence of Almighty God, that whenever I am called to give my vote or suffrage, touching any matter that concerns the State of Vermont, I will do it so as in my conscience I shall judge will most conduce to the best good of the same, as established by the constitution, without fear or favor of any man.

S E C T I O N VII.

THE House of Representatives of the Freemen of this State shall consist of persons most noted for wisdom and virtue, to be chosen by the freemen of every town in this State respectively. And no foreigner shall be chosen, unless he has resided in the town for which he shall be elected, one year immediately before the said election.

S E C T I O N VIII.

THE members of the House of Representatives, shall be chosen annually by ballot, by the freemen of this State on the first tuesday of September forever, (except this this present year) and shall meet on the second thursday of the succeeding October, and shall be stiled the General Assembly of the Representatives of the Freemen of Vermont; and shall have power to choose their Speaker, Secretary of the State, their Clerk, and other necessary officers of the house---sit on their own adjournments---prepare bills and enact them into laws---judge of the elections and qualifications of their own members---they may expel a member, but not a second time for the same cause---They may administer oaths (or affirmations) on examination of witnesses---redress grievances---impeach State criminals---grant charters of incorporation---constitute towns, boroughs, cities and counties, and shall have all other powers necessary for the legislature of a free State: But they shall have no power to add to, alter, abolish or infringe any part of this constitution. And for this present year the members of the General Assembly shall be chosen on the first Tuesday of March next, and shall meet at the meeting-house in Windsor, on the second Thursday of March next.

S E C T I O N IX.

A QUORUM of the house of representatives shall consist of two thirds of the whole number of members elected; and having met and chosen their speaker, shall each of them before they proceed to business, take and subscribe as well the oath of fidelity and allegiance herein after directed, as the following oath or affirmation, viz.

I ————— do solemnly swear by the ever-living God, (or I do solemnly affirm in the presence of Almighty God) that as a member of this assembly, I will not propose or assent to any bill, vote, or resolution, which shall appear to me injurious to the people; nor do or consent to any act or thing whatever that shall have a tendency to lessen or abridge their rights and privileges, as declared in the Constitution of this State; but will in all things conduct myself as a faithful best representative and guardian of the people, according to the best of my judgment and abilities.

AND each member, before he takes his seat, shall make and subscribe the following declaration, viz.

I do believe in one God, the Creator and Governor of the universe, the rewarder of the good and punisher of the wicked. And I do acknowledge the scriptures of the old and new testament to be given by divine inspiration, and own and profess the protestant religion.

AND no further or other religious test shall ever hereafter be required of any civil officer or magistrate in this State.

S E C T I O N X.

DELEGATES to represent this State in Congress shall be chosen by ballot by the future General Assembly at their first meeting, and annually forever afterward, as long as such representation shall be necessary. Any Delegate may be superceeded at any time, by the General Assembly appointing another in his stead. No man shall sit in Congress longer than two years successively, nor be capable of re-election for three years afterwards; and no person who holds any office in the gift of the congress, shall thereafter be elected to represent this State in Congress.

S E C T I O N XI.

If any town or towns shall neglect or refuse to elect and send representatives to the General Assembly, two thirds of the members of the towns, that do elect and send representatives, (provided they be a majority of the inhabited towns of the whole State) when met, shall have all the powers of the General Assembly, as fully and amply as if the whole were present.

S E C T I O N XII.

THE doors of the house in which the representatives of the freemen of this State shall sit in General Assembly, shall be and remain open for the admission of all persons who behave decently, except only when the welfare of this State may require the doors to be shut.

SECTION

S E C T I O N XIII.

THE votes and proceedings of the General Assembly shall be printed weekly during their sitting, with the yeas and nays on any question, vote or resolution, where one third of the members require it, (except when the votes are taken by ballot) and when the yeas and nays are so taken, every member shall have a right to insert the reasons of his votes upon the minutes, if he desire it.

S E C T I O N XIV.

To the end that laws before they are enacted, may be more maturely considered, and the inconveniency of hasty determination as much as possible prevented, all bills of public nature, shall be first laid before the Governor and Council for their perusal and proposals of amendment, and shall be printed for the consideration of the people before they are read in General Assembly for the last time of debate and amendment, (except temporary acts) which after being laid before the Governor and Council, may (in case of sudden necessity) be passed into laws, and no other shall be passed into laws, until the next session of assembly. And for the more perfect satisfaction of the public, the reasons and motives for making such laws, shall be fully and clearly expressed and set forth in their preambles.

S E C T I O N XV.

THE stile of the laws of this State shall be, " Be it enacted and it is hereby enacted by the Representatives of the Freemen of the State of Vermont, in General Assembly met, and by the Authority of the same."

S E C T I O N XVI.

IN order that the freemen of this State might enjoy the benefit of election, as equally as may be, each town within this State, that consists, or may consist of eighty taxable inhabitants within one septenary or seven years next after the establishing this constitution, may hold elections therein, and choose each two representatives, and and each other inhabited town in this State may in like manner, choose each one representative, to represent them in General Assembly, during the said septenary or seven years, and after that, each inhabited town may in like manner hold such election, and chuse each one representative forever thereafter.

S E C T I O N XVII.

THE supreme executive council of this State, shall consist of a Governor, Lieutenant-Governor, and twelve persons, chosen in the following manner, viz. The freemen of each town, shall on the day of election for choosing representatives to attend the General Assembly, bring in their votes for Governor, with his name fairly written, to the constable, who shall seal them up and write on them, votes for the Governor, and deliver them to the representative chosen to attend the General Assembly, and at the opening of the General Assembly there shall be a committee appointed out of the Council, and Assembly, who after being duly sworn to the faithful discharge of their trust, shall proceed to receive, sort and count the votes for the Governor, and declare the person who has the major part of the votes to be Governor for the year ensuing. And if there be no choice made, then the Council and General Assembly, by their joint ballot shall make choice of a Governor.

THE Lieutenant-Governor and Treasurer, shall be chosen in the manner above directed; and each freeman shall give in twelve votes for twelve counsellors in the same manner, and the twelve highest in nomination shall serve for the ensuing year as Counsellors.

THE Council that shall act in the recess of this Convention, shall supply the place of a Council for the next General Assembly, until the new Council be declared chosen. The Council shall meet annually at the same time and place with the General Assembly, and every member of the Council shall be a Justice of the Peace for the whole State by virtue of his office.

SECTION

S E C T I O N XVIII.

THE Governor and in his absence the Lieutenant or Deputy Governor, with the Council, seven of whom shall be a quorum; shall have power to appoint and commissionate all officers (except those who are appointed by the General Assembly) agreeable to this frame of government, and the laws that may be made hereafter; and shall supply every vacancy in any office; occasioned by death, resignation, removal or disqualification; until the office can be filled in the time and manner directed by law or this constitution. They are to correspond with other States, and transact business with officers of government; civil and military; and to prepare such business as may appear to them necessary to lay before the General Assembly. They shall sit as judges to hear and determine on impeachments; taking to their assistance for advice only the justices of supreme court; and shall have power to grant pardons; and remit fines, in all cases whatsoever, except cases of impeachment; and in cases of treason and murder---shall have power to grant reprieves, but not to pardon until the end of the next sessions of assembly; but there shall be no remission or mitigation of punishment on impeachments, except by act of legislation. They are also to take care that the laws be faithfully executed---They are to expedite the execution of such measures as may be resolved upon by General Assembly; and they may draw upon the Treasurer for such sums as may be appropriated by the house; they may also lay embargoes, or prohibit the exportation of any commodity for any time not exceeding thirty days, in the recess of the house only;---they may grant such licences as shall be directed by law, and shall have power to call together the General Assembly when necessary; before the day to which they shall stand adjourned. The Governor shall be commander in chief of the forces of the State; but shall not command in person, except cept advised thereto by the council, and then only as long as they shall approve thereof. The Governor and Council shall have a Secretary, and keep fair books of their proceedings, wherein any Counsellor may enter his dissent, with his reasons to support it.

S E C T I O N XIX.

ALL commissions shall be in the name of the freemen of the State of Vermont, sealed with the state seal, signed by the Governor, and in his absence the Lieutenant Governor, and attested by the Secretary; which seal shall be kept by the Council.

S E C T I O N XX.

EVERY officer of State, whether judicial or executive, shall be liable to be impeached by the General Assembly, either when in office, or after his resignation, or removal for mal-administration: All impeachments shall be before the Governor or Lieutenant Governor and Council, who shall hear and determine the same.

S E C T I O N XXI.

THE supreme court and the several courts of common pleas of this State shall, besides the powers usually exercised by such courts, have the powers of a court of chancery, so far as relates to perpetuating testimony---obtaining evidence from places not within this State, and the care of persons and estates of those who are non compotes mentis and such other powers as may be found necessary by future General Assemblies, not inconsistent with this constitution.

S E C T I O N XXII.

TRIALS shall be by jury; and it is recommended to the legislature of this State to provide by law against every corruption or partiality in the choice, and return, or appointment of juries.

S E C T I O N XXIII.

ALL courts shall be open, and justice shall be impartially administered without corruption or unnecessary delay; all their officers shall be paid an adequate but moderate moderate compensation for their services; and if any officer shall take greater or other fees than the laws allow him, either directly or indirectly, it shall ever after disqualify him from holding any office in this State.

S E C T I O N XXIV.

ALL prosecutions shall commence in the name and by the authority of the freemen of the State of Vermont, and all indictments shall conclude with these words "against the peace and dignity of the same." The stile of all process hereafter in this State shall be, The State of Vermont.

S E C T I O N XXV.

THE person of a debtor, where there is not a strong presumption of fraud, shall not be continued in prison, after delivering up, bona fide, all his estate real and personal, for the use of his creditors, in such manner as shall be hereafter regulated by law. All prisoners shall be bailable by sufficient securities, unless for capital offences, when the proof is evident or presumption great.

S E C T I O N XXVI.

EXCESSIVE bail shall not be exacted for bailable offences: And all fines shall be moderate.

S E C T I O N XXVII.

THAT the General Assembly when legally formed, shall appoint times and places for county elections, and at times and places, the freemen in each county respectively shall have the liberty of choosing the judges of inferior court common places, sheriff, justices of the peace, and judges of probates commissioned by the Governor in council during good behaviour, removable by the General Assembly upon proof of mal-administration.

S E C T I O N XXVIII.

THAT no person, shall be capable of holding any civil office, in this state, except he has acquired, and maintains a good moral character.

SECTION

S E C T I O N XXIX.

ALL elections, whether by the people or in General Assembly, shall be by ballot, free and voluntary; and any elector who shall receive any gift or reward for his vote, in meat, drink, monies or otherwise, shall forfeit his right to elect at that time, and suffer such other penalty as future laws shall direct. And any person who shall directly or indirectly, give, promise or bestow any such rewards to be elected, shall thereby be rendered incapable to serve for the ensuing year.

S E C T I O N XXX.

ALL fines, licence money, fees and forfeitures, shall be paid according to the direction hereafter to be made by the General Assembly.

S E C T I O N XXXI.

ALL deeds and conveyances of land shall be recorded in the town clerks office in their respective towns.

S E C T I O N XXXII.

THE printing presses shall be free to every person who undertakes to examine the proceedings of the legislature, or any part of government.

S E C T I O N XXXIII.

As every free man, to preserve his independence (if without a sufficient estate) ought to have some profession, calling, trade or farm, whereby he may honestly subsist, there can be no necessity for, nor use in establishing offices of profit, the usual effects of which are dependence and servility, unbecoming freemen, in the possessors or expectants; faction, contention, corruption and disorder among the people. But if any man is called into public service, to the prejudice of his private affairs, he has a right to a reasonable compensation; and when ever an office, through increase of fees, or otherwise, becomes so profitable as to occasion many to apply for it, the profits ought to be lessened by the legislature.

SECTION

S E C T I O N XXXIV.

THE future legislature of this State, shall regulate imposts in such manner as to prevent perpetuities.

S E C T I O N XXXV.

To deter more effectually from the commission of crimes, by continued visible punishment of long duration, and to make sanguinary punishments less necessary; houses ought to be provided for punishing by hard labour, those who shall be convicted of crimes not capital; wherein the criminal shall be employed for the benefit of the public, or for reparation of injuries done to private persons; and all persons at proper times shall be admitted to see the prisoners at their labour.

S E C T I O N XXXVI.

EVERY officer, whether judicial, executive or military, in authority under this State, shall take the following oath or affirmation of allegiance, and general oath of office before he enter on the execution of his office.

The Oath or Affirmation of Allegiance.

" I _____ do solemnly swear by the everliving God, (or affirm in presence of Almighty God,) that I will be true and faithful to the State of Vermont; and that I will not directly or indirectly do any act or thing prejudicial or injurious to the constitution or government thereof as established by Convention."

The Oath or Affirmation of Office.

" I _____ do solemnly swear by the ever-living God, (or affirm in presence of Almighty God) that I will faithfully execute the office of _____ for the _____ of _____ and will do equal right and justice to all men to the best of my judgment and abilities, according to law"

S E C T I O N XXXVII.

No public tax, custom or contribution shall be imposed upon, or paid by the people of this State, except by a law for that purpose; and before any law be made for raising it, the purpose for which any tax is to be raised raised ought to appear clear to the legislature to be of more service to the community than the money would be, if not collected, which being well observed, taxes can never be burthens.

S E C T I O N XXXVIII.

EVERY foreigner of good character, who comes to settle in this State, having first taken an oath or affirmation of allegiance to the same, may purchase, or by other just means acquire, hold and transfer land or other real estate; and after one years residence, shall be deemed a free denison thereof, and intituled to all the rights of a natural born subject of this State, except that he shall not be capable of being elected a representative until after two years residence.

S E C T I O N XXXIX.

THAT the inhabitants of this State, shall have liberty to hunt and fowl, in seasonable times on the lands they hold, and on other lands (not enclosed) and in like manner to fish in all boatable and other waters not private property, under proper regulations to be hereafter made and provided by the General Assembly.

S E C T I O N XL.

A SCHOOL or schools shall be established in each town by the legislature, for the convenient instruction of youth, with such salaries to the masters, paid by each town, making proper use of school lands in each town, thereby to enable them to instruct youth at low prices: One grammar school in each county, and one university in this State ought to be established by direction of the General Assembly.

S E C T I O N XLI.

LAWS for the encouragement of virtue and prevention of vice, and immorality shall be made and constantly kept in force, and provision shall be made for their due execution; and all religious societies or bodies of men that have or may be hereafter united or incorporated for the advancement of religion and learning, or for other pious and charitable purposes, shall be encouraged and protected in the enjoyment of the privileges, immunities and estates which they in justice ought to enjoy under such regulations, as the General Assembly of this State shall direct.

S E C T I O N XLII.

ALL field and staff officers, and commissioned officers of the army, and all general officers of the militia, shall be chosen by the General Assembly.

S E C T I O N XLIII.

THE declaration of rights is hereby declared to be a part of the Constitution of this State, and ought never to be violated on any pretence whatsoever.

S E C T I O N XLIV.

IN order that the freedom of this Common-wealth may be preserved inviolate forever, there shall be chosen by ballot by the freemen of this State on the last Wednesday in March, in the year one thousand seven hundred and eighty-five, on the last Wednesday in March, in every seven years thereafter, thirteen persons who shall be chosen in the same manner the council is chosen, except they shall not be out of the Council or General Assembly, to be called the Council or Censors; who shall meet together on the first Wednesday of June next ensuing their election, the majority of whom shall be a quorum in every case, except as to calling a Convention, in which two thirds of the whole number elected shall agree; and whose duty it shall be to enquire whether the constitution has been preserved inviolate in every part; and whether the legislative and executive branches of government have performed their duty as guardians of the people; or assumed to themselves or exercised other or greater powers than they are entitled to by the constitution. They are also to enquire whether the public taxes have been justly laid and collected in all parts of this Common-wealth -- in what manner the public monies have been disposed of, and whether that the laws have been duly executed. For these purposes they shall have power to send for persons, papers and records; they shall have authority to pass public censures --to order impeachments, and to recommend to the legislature the repealing such laws as appear to them to have been enacted contrary to the principles of the constitution: These powers they shall continue to have, for and during the space of one year from the day of their election, and no longer. The said Council of Censors shall also have power to call a Convention, to meet within two years after their sitting, if there appears to them an absolute necessity of amending any article of this constitution which may be defective--explaining such as may be thought not clearly expressed, and of adding such as are necessary for the preservation of the rights and happiness of the people: But the articles to be amended, and the amendments proposed and such articles as are proposed to be added or abolished, shall be promulgated at least six months before the day appointed for the election of such convention, for the previous consideration of the people, that they may have an opportunity of instructing their delegates on the subject.
